

Charting the LifeCourse Community Wide Event

Wednesday, November 28, 2018

ABOUT THE PROJECT

Charting the LifeCourse is a framework that was developed to help individuals and families of all abilities and at any age or stage of life develop a vision for a good life, think about what they need to know and do, identify how to find or develop supports, and discover what it takes to live the lives they want to live.

LED BY

Charting the LifeCourse Network at UMKC IHD
Statewide network, staffed by family members of people with disabilities, that provides information, peer support, leadership opportunities and training for people with disabilities, their families and supporters.

HOSTED BY

The Michigan Developmental Disabilities Council

Charting a Good Life for All

Join us to learn about the Charting the LifeCourse and the roles we hold in our day-to-day lives to support individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. We will learn about tools that can be used at every life stage to enhance a person-centered approach for planning and supporting life experiences that support a person to reach their vision of a “good life.”

This interactive, hands-on workshop will:

- Highlight the significant role families play in their members with disabilities lives across the lifespan.
- Introduce the LifeCourse Framework as a foundation for working with individuals with disabilities and their families to achieve a “good life”
- Provide real life examples and strategies that can be used to impact the trajectory towards a “good life”
- Highlight the use of the Charting the LifeCourse framework and related decision making and problem solving tools.

Who should attend:

Self-advocates, family members, support coordinators, providers, early intervention and health care providers, family groups, planners, teachers, recreation programs, state/county staff and general community.
